LIBERTY

Technical Summary

Why?

As a parent you will do anything to make sure that your child feels happy, loved and protected. But, while you are planning for their perfect life, you have no way of knowing whether they might become critically ill one day and how this could impact on your finances.

How?

The Child Living Lifestyle benefit as listed under the Benefit Categories covered, was specifically designed for children. It pays out a lump sum on diagnosis of the conditions pertaining to the child life assured. This benefit provides you with some financial assistance towards covering your medical or other costs.

When?

Depending on your child's illness, you may have to take extended time off work or quit your job. You may also incur costs by employing someone to take care of them. You may have additional travel expenses in taking your child for specialised treatment.

Example

William has two children, Jason and Kate. He purchases a Lifestyle Protector policy with Living Lifestyle benefit and adds Child Living Lifestyle benefit for both his children, with a sum assured of R200 000 each. Following Jason's renal failure diagnosis, William is able to make a claim on his policy and is paid R200 000.

The claim does not affect the sum assured under Living Lifestyle or Kate's Child Living Lifestyle benefit. However, the Child Living Lifestyle benefit for Jason will cease.
